

The Plug Shim (spacer between plug and PCB) maintains proper PCB insertion depth of the wall plug and the required distance for the enclosure design